

DOGGY STYLE

A performance at the intersection of dance and sign language with Switzerland-based choreographer Joshua Monten and his company

Tuesday, September 29, 4:30 - 6p

Photo: Jonas Kambli

Reva and David Logan Center for the Arts
Performance Lab 701
915 E. 60th St.
Chicago, IL 60637

Seating is limited! Please RSVP to Leslie Danzig, Gray Center Curator.

Doggy Style transposes the athletic poetry of spontaneous canine movements onto human bodies, featuring a mixture of dance and sign language. The production has been designed to be accessible to both Deaf and hearing audiences. Please join us for a studio performance and conversation with the artists and faculty from University of Chicago's Center for Gesture, Sign, and Language.

Presented by the Gray Center for Arts and Inquiry in partnership with the Center for Gesture, Sign and Language.

the gray center for arts and inquiry
a laboratory where artists & scholars experiment
w/ forms of collaboration
graycenter.uchicago.edu

swiss arts council